THE WINDOW TREE

5/13/54

Dearest La Vona,

It's been a great pleasure to have known you the way I have. We have lots to remember this year. All our picnics and etc. There will be lots of fun. Remember all our good times at the sanitarium working in the kitchen and the swimming. That sure was fun. I hope we get to go lots more this summer. Maybe by the end of the summer you and I will be able to swim at least better than we can now. Re-good this summer now and don't do anything I wouldn't do. ha! (If that's possible.) I will be praying. May the good Lord bless and keep you as you are serving Him.

Lovingly,
Evie #

We Dedicate

To Mrs. Leona S. Burman, our beloved English teacher, librarian and friend, we dedicate this 1954 edition of "The Window Tree."

As a true leader, she faithfully labors to implant in her students the realization of their responsibilities in the unfolding future. Her Christian life and high ideals are a real inspiration to us all. In the classroom she seeks to develop a love for that which we know will be of importance to us in our life to come. We feel deeply indebted to Mrs. Burman for her assistance to us as both friend and helper, and we take this opportunity to express our sincere thanks.

Principal's Message

School days are a very important part of life. Sometimes students are inclined to forget that they are doing more than preparing for life--they are living now! True, the student should be preparing for the "higher joy of wider service"; but the best way to be prepared is to live a life of service here and now. In this way you will establish habits of usefulness and know the true joy of service.

It is God's plan that you should be happy and contented. He has shown the way to experience true happiness. It is in "living to bless others" as Jesus, our example, did when He was upon earth. There is no greater joy in life than to render happiness to others by giving the best to ourselves.

Happiness is a by-product of right thinking and right living. True and enduring happiness depends primarily upon a close alliance with God. Keep close to Him, and your highest purpose in life will be to grow in spiritual grace and power. This will make you of great service to others and will bring you untold satisfaction.

Store your mind with useful thoughts; cultivate a mental attitude of peace, contentment, and good will; divert your mind from self-centeredness; resist the common tendency to want things your own way; concentrate on your immediate task, making the most of today; be grateful for your opportunities and blessings. Practice these things, and happiness will become a habit. You will have learned how to live!

Sincere best wishes, LaVonne
